

To consider position and posture when addressing an audience.

To experiment with adjusting tone, volume and pace for different audiences.

To begin to use specialist vocabulary.

To be able to use specialist language to describe their own and others' talk.

To listen actively, questioning and responding to others.

To adapt the content of my speech to a specific audience.

To speak with confidence in front of an audience.

To begin to make precise language choices. For example, describing a cake as delectable rather than nice.

To offer opinions that aren't my own.

To reflect on discussions and identify how to improve.

To be able to summarise a discussion.

To reach a shared agreement in a discussion.